'Thank You' Party Bob Peterson III Road Men Speak Up

In response to an invitation your editor and Pod Rogers attended a party in Little Rock Thursday afternoon arranged by the University of Arkansas, the University Foundation, (of which Hope's Judge John L. Wilson is a member) and the S. M. Brooks Agency of Little Rock to express thanks to the newspapers which carried free of charge the University Centennial Magazine that you read in Wednesday's Star.

It was a brief and informal affair at the Capitol Club, on the 23rd floor of the new Worthen Bank Building—a stunning setting for ordinary mortals.

We met David Mullins, president of the University; Harvey McGeorge, president of the University Foundation; Robert J. Wimberley, president of the S. M. Brooks Agency of Little Rock, which put the magazine together at cost; and others.

I found myself sitting next to Wallace Hurley, head of Hurley Press, Inc., Camden, who produced the beautiful magazine—a man I have known since 1923 when I was at El Dorado and he at Camden.

Before starting home Pod and I stopped at the Veterans Hospital to inquire about Capt. Bob Peterson of Hope, who is very ill following a stroke and an operation to remove a blood clot. He has recovered from a coma, but was sleeping when we arrived; so we talked to Lucille, his wife, who has taken an apartment next to the hospital. The operation was successful but Bob is in a grave condition. We left messages which she was to give him this morning.

My message was a heartfelt wish for the recovery of an old fishing partner.

Recently I fired an editorial attacking the proposed diversion of Federal Highway Trust funds to aid mass transit projects in the big cities. An April 18 Associated Press dispatch from Little Rock adds backing to the editorial.

The Arkansas Highway Users Conference got off a letter to Grant Mickle, president of the Highway Users Federation because the latter group had testified before Congress in support of road money diversion, the dispatch reported.

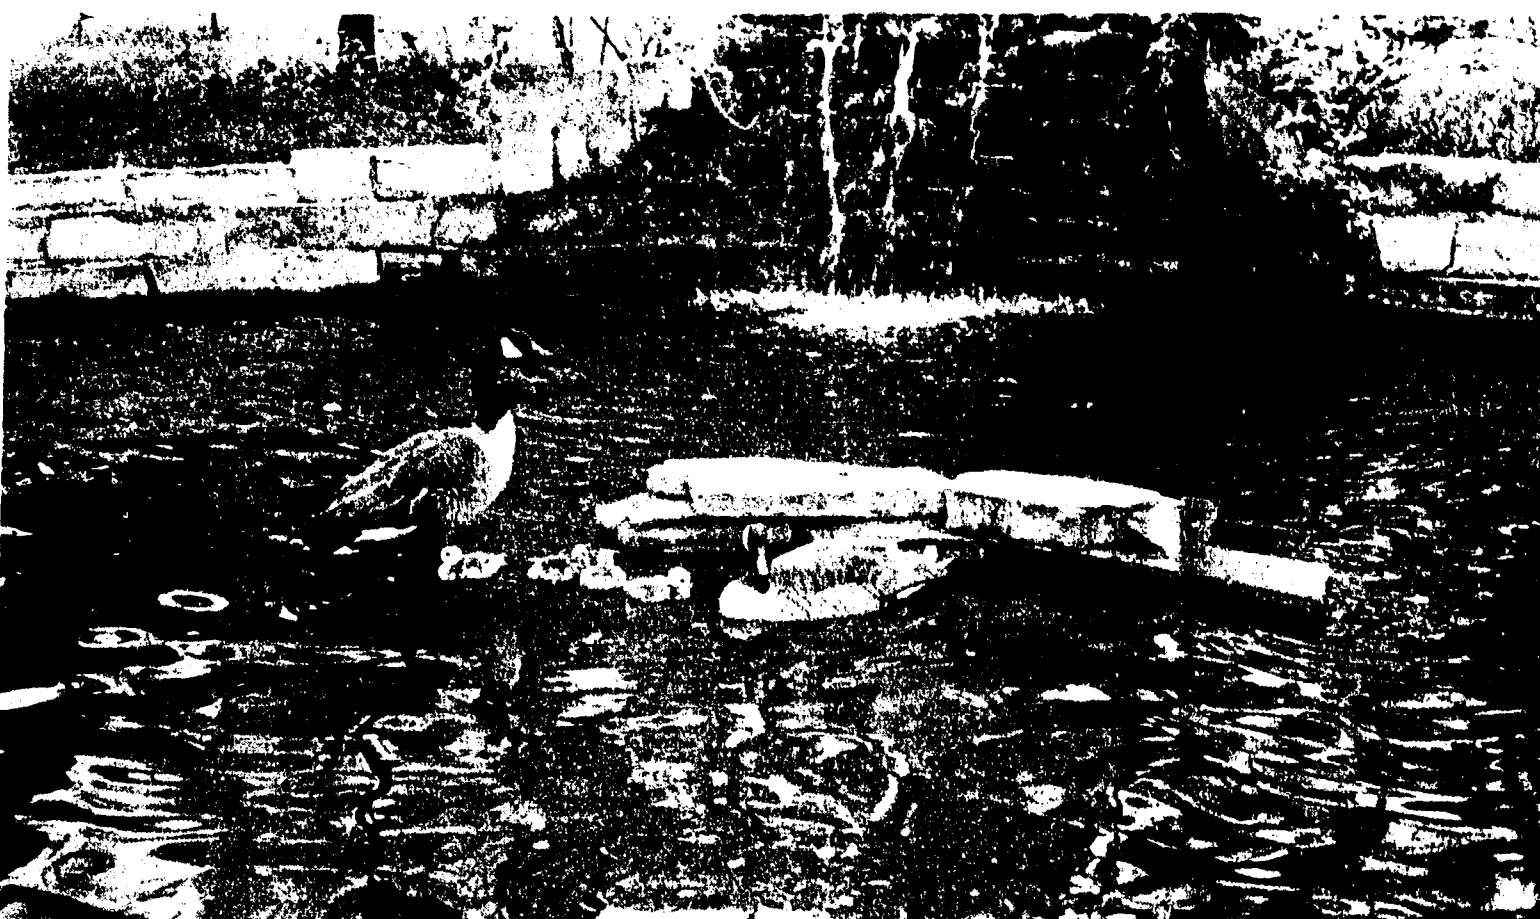

The letter continued: "It seems almost unthinkable that an organization composed primarily of highway users would support a project which would seriously delay the building of roads."

Not to mention a flagrant double-cross of every automobile user in America who is paying extra gasoline taxes to the federal government under a stipulation that this money shall be spent only for highways.

Little Honkers Another Sure Sign of Spring

Another sure sign of Spring is the arrival Tuesday, April 18, of four Canada Goose goslings in The Star Editor's "Back 40," a miniature game preserve behind his house. Here's how one-day-old Honkers look, as photographed Wednesday by Gene Allen.

There are now 10 Canada Geese on hand, the old pair, four adults hatched in 1971, and six goslings. An 11th bird, hatched in 1969, vanished in early Spring as the Canadians began their migration North.

Apollo Finally Lands, Three Walks Planned

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Awestruck by the scenery, Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. stepped onto a rocky plateau today and began man's first exploration of the mountains of the moon.

"Here you are mysterious and unknown Descartes!" Young exclaimed as he became the ninth man to leave his imprint in the ancient lunar dust. "Apollo 16 is going to change your image."

The Apollo 16 commander's footfall was recorded at 11:56 a.m. EST.

Duke followed him down the ladder of the lunar ship Orion five minutes later.

"Yahoo, this is so great I can hardly believe it!" he shouted. "We are proud to be Americans on an experience like this."

They quickly set about their tasks, collecting samples, deploying their four-wheel moon buggy and starting the three-hour task of erecting a nuclear-powered science station which is to relay data back for at least a year on such things as radiation, the solar wind, moonquakes and meteor hits.

After overcoming an initial steering problem with the buggy's rear wheels, Duke reported: "The rover is ready, Houston."

Young quickly discovered that Orion had landed only 10 feet from a large crater, perhaps 10 feet deep.

He reported the actual landing site was smooth.

The explorers hope in this mountainous Descartes region, the highest on the front side of the moon, to find evidence that volcanoes once erupted beneath the lunar surface, sculpturing mountains, canyons and valleys in the formative years more than four billion years ago.

They also hope to find the source of original lunar crust and perhaps learn why the moon became a relatively dormant planet between three and four billion years ago.

Young and Duke, who almost had their landing canceled Thursday when astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly II had trouble with the command ship engine, were stunned by the landscape of mountains, craters and desolate desert-like terrain.

An Orion antenna problem prevented earthlings for the first time from seeing televised pictures of the astronauts' first steps.

But pictures more clear than those on any previous moon mission came through 64 minutes later when the astronauts erected a portable antenna on the surface.

The first picture received on earth showed Duke working at the moon car in front of the foil-wrapped landing craft.

Then the camera was mounted a short distance away to record both men as they unpacked the elements of the science station.

A brilliant picture showed the two astronauts posing in front of the American flag and jumping effortlessly up and down, scattering dust in the one-sixth gravity field.

They touched down on a mountain plateau in the lunar lander Orion Thursday night after three tension-filled hours during which 200 experts worked on the ground to save the landing mission.

When they finally touched down on the mountain-ringed plateau in the highest region on the front side of the moon at 9:24 p.m., Duke exclaimed: "Orion is finally here, Houston! Fantastic!"

Senate ITT Hearing About Over

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has all but ended its investigation into the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general. The after-effects may prove more noteworthy than the seven weeks of hearings.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said the hearings were precedent-setting because the last witness to testify Thursday was Peter M. Flanagan, a senior adviser to President Nixon.

Ervin said it now will be easier for the Senate to obtain testimony from White House aides about conversations they had with persons other than the President and his assistants.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., predicted the committee will submit a favorable report next Thursday to Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on the Kleindienst nomination, and that the Senate will confirm him. The committee already has voted to recommend approval of the nomination.

"The hearings have shown there has not been one scintilla of evidence that Kleindienst did anything wrong," said Eastland.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said he plans to introduce legislation reforming antitrust

Pandas a Bit Spoiled

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hsing-Hsing and Ling-Ling may be getting a bit spoiled by their star status. Or perhaps they just don't like 8,000 people staring at them.

Whatever the reason, the two pandas hid in their cages most of Thursday afternoon as curious thousands waited to see them at the National Zoo.

The pandas, gifts to the United States from mainland China, went on public display for the first time shortly after they were formally presented to Pat Nixon earlier in the day.

"They put on a great show this morning for Mrs. Nixon and the press—turned somersaults, did everything except talk," said Don Grist, the park policeman stationed at the entrance to the panda house.

procedures in an effort to give the public a better understanding of Justice Department handling of out-of-court settlements and the lobbying of business interests with government officials.

It seems likely that Democrats will use much of the information gained during the 21 days of hearings to bolster their contentions in the current presidential campaign that the Republican party favors big business.

The hearings were begun March 2 at Kleindienst's request. Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson had published a

Earnings Up, Cost of Living Eases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in living costs eased last month and workers' average earnings showed the largest March increase in seven years, the government said today.

The Consumer Price Index, measuring typical family spending rose two-tenths of one per cent, less than half the February increase, including a marked slowing of grocery prices from the month before, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The bureau said that on a seasonally adjusted basis—figuring the usually expected March increase—there was no change in living costs for the first month in more than five years.

The report said living costs were 3.5 per cent above a year ago compared with a 4.1 per cent annual rate of increase in the six months before President Nixon imposed the wage-price freeze.

The March increase brought the index to 124.0 of its 1967 base of 100, meaning it took $12.40 last month for every $10 worth of living costs five years ago.

In other major categories, housing costs rose two-tenths of one per cent; clothing, five-tenths; transportation, one-tenth; medical care, three-tenths; and recreation, two-tenths, the bureau said.

Average weekly earnings of nearly 50 million rank-and-file workers rose $1.09 to $131.73 per week and were $8.06 or 6.5 per cent above a year earlier.

After allowing for the rise in living costs, the bureau said, the average paycheck was seven-tenths of one per cent up for the month and 2.9 per cent above a year ago.

"This increase from a year ago was the largest over-the-year gain reported for any March since 1965," the report said.

The report said most of the rise in living costs in March was due to higher property taxes and higher prices for clothing, eggs, beef, veal and restaurant meals. Prices were lower for vegetables, pork and mortgage interest.

Battle for An Loc Rages

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers and fighter-bombers struck deep into North Vietnam today, attacking supply depots, transportation facilities and air defenses 80 miles south of Hanoi, the northern capital.

Aground, North Vietnamese troops launched furious attacks around An Loc and knocked a South Vietnamese battalion out of action near that district capital 60 miles north of Saigon.

In announcing the raids at An Loc, the U.S. Command said the attacks centered around Thanh Hoa near the coast, 215 miles north of the demilitarized zone separating the Vietnamese. An Air Force F4 Phantom jet was shot down 42 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa.

The two crewmen bailed out over the Gulf of Tonkin and were rescued by helicopter, the Command reported.

The raids were the deepest since heavy strikes last Sunday near Hanoi and the nearby port of Haiphong. In both cases, the aerial blows were aimed at knocking out supplies feeding the North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam.

The U.S. command said in a statement that the latest raids were against "military targets in North Vietnam that are helping support the Communist invasion across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam."

The Command declined to disclose the number of aircraft involved in the strikes, but other sources said as many as 30 B52s and 100 to 150 Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers took part.

The United States resumed the bombing of North Vietnam last April 6, a week after the North Vietnamese launched the offensive to drive out of action at An Loc was a paratrooper unit credited with good fighting ability. It lost 100 men killed or wounded out of 500 and was lifted out of the battle zone by helicopters, field reports said.

The battalion was holding Hill 609, a defensive position 2½ miles southeast of An Loc. The enemy opened an artillery bombardment Thursday, followed by a ground assault. The paratroopers were forced back two miles to the south.

Enemy troops have been trying all week to capture An Loc and thus make it the first provincial capital to fall since the spring offensive began.

Driven back from most of An Loc after occupying more than half the city, the North Vietnamese renewed the attack Thursday.

At dusk, An Loc was reported under artillery and rocket fire and another airborne battalion was battling enemy forces who were attacking on the southwestern edge of the city.

Heavy fighting also was reported at the district town of Dau Tieng, 40 miles northwest of Saigon. Field reports said the town and outposts around it were under shelling attack and civilians were fleeing to the south. This could be an outflanking movement against the defenders at An Loc.

On the sea front, American officials said U.S. destroyers sank a North Vietnamese patrol boat and traded fire with another in the Gulf of Tonkin Thursday night.

The U.S. Command also disclosed the loss of six more American aircraft—two in the last two days and four others during the first two weeks of Hanoi's offensive. This raised the number of U.S. aircraft reported lost in the three-week-old offensive to 36, 16 planes and 20 helicopters, with nine crewmen killed, 11 wounded and 42 missing.

The Tonkin Gulf clashes were the fifth and sixth of the week, and a U.S. military source said sea battles off the North Vietnamese coast probably would continue "as long as we have gunfire along the coast and we have to get in close."

Hempstead High in Highway Accidents

The Police Services Division in its monthly statistical review reported today that 59 persons died in traffic fatalities during the month of March. According to State Police figures this is 19 more deaths than were recorded over the same period a year ago.

Captain Milton Mosier, District Commander of the Hope District for the Police Services Division said that 9 persons died during the month of March on Arkansas Highways in the Hope District. Counties in the District recording deaths were Sevier with 5 deaths, Clark 3, and Lafayette 1 death. Hempstead, Howard, Little River, Miller, Nevada, and Pike Counties were free of traffic fatalities during the reporting period.

Mosier said troopers in the 9 County area investigated 89 accidents. Miller County experienced the highest accident rate during March recording 14 accidents, followed by Hempstead and Little River with 13 each, Nevada 12, Clark 11, Pike 10, Howard 7, Sevier 6, and Lafayette 3 accidents.

The report indicated that failure to yield the right of way was the leading contributing cause in the accidents followed by excessive speed, driving while under the influence of alcohol, and improper passing.

The 59 deaths during March occurred in 45 fatal collisions. Statewide troopers investigated 1065 accidents during the month of March.

Kiwanis Show Best Yet

Last week's 29th Annual Kiwanis Show was a complete success in every way.

Some who have seen every show have been very complimentary of the last presentation, stating that it was the best yet. The specialties going from the sublime to the ridiculous were well received, and the jokers were at their best.

The Kiwanis Club is indebted to the citizens of this area for making the show a financial success. This year's profit from the show was dedicated to providing lights for Key Field in Fair Park. $1,900 have been pledged to this cause.

Though all accounts have not been closed on this year's show, it appears that $1,700 to $1,800 will be realized from it, and it could possibly go as high as the entire $1,900 pledged.

House Disagrees on Order to Pass End-the-War Measure

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee are in disagreement over what response they'll make to the order from the Democratic Caucus to pass an end-the-war bill within 30 days.

But Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., who heads the Asian-Pacific affairs subcommittee, said a three-month deadline to halt the Indochina war might be "realistic in the light of the President's own timetable."

Gallagher's committee meets early next week.

Gallagher was not proposing a three-month deadline, however, and said he would not back any end-the-war measure in advance of the meeting.

He said the purpose of the meeting is to decide what course of action to take and not necessarily to promptly report out one of well over 100 pending war-halt bills and resolutions.

The resolution approved 144 to 58 by the Democratic Caucus, condemning both renewed U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and Hanoi's invasion of the South, directed the full committee's Democratic members to put out a bill on "promptly setting a date to terminate all U.S. military involvement." But it leaves details up to the committee.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., a senior member, said he believes the committee will settle on a policy statement urging termination of the war but leaving the date up to President Nixon.

Zablocki said no committee bill would "be satisfying to the proponents of this caucus resolution."

When asked if it is reasonable to expect subcommittee approval of a war deadline as early as three months away, Gallagher said yes. In light of President Nixon's own time-

"In my opinion that pointed to our being out of the war by July," Gallagher said. "And the last time I was over there it looked to me like that timetable was on schedule."

Gallagher's Asia and Pacific affairs subcommittee held several weeks of hearings last fall on some 120 war-halt proposals but took no votes on reporting any of them on to the full House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Bombings Protested Gunfire at Memphis

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

Antiwar demonstrators set protests today at scores of the nation's colleges and universities in a resurgent movement triggered by the resumption of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

In New England alone, students from 45 schools were picketing in support of a nationwide strike called for today by leaders of several national antiwar and student groups.

Forms of protest at other schools ranged from marches to teach-ins to boycotts to digging bomb-sized craters. In Ohio, Oberlin College students planned to burn a simulated Vietnam village to show the effect of bombing.

Token elements of the National Guard patrolled the University of Maryland today. Three nights of protest earlier this week ended in violence and led to a declaration of a state of emergency Thursday.

There was no further violence Thursday night but about 140 persons were arrested for refusing to obey a 9 p.m. curfew on the College Park campus.

Vandalism broke out in Madison, Wis., again Thursday after an antiwar rally attended by some 4,000 persons at the University of Wisconsin. Police used tear gas to disperse the crowds and reported some broken windows in the business section.

Columbia University was ordered closed today by President William McGill who called for the time "to think and talk about the war and what it means to us."

McGill, who earlier opposed canceling classes, took the action Thursday after a group of 40 demonstrators broke up a meeting of the university senate. He said the senate had been about to authorize the shutdown.

University of Michigan President Robben Fleming criticized President Nixon's decision to resume the bombing but stood by his decision not to cancel classes in support of today's strike.

In Cambridge, Mass., about 2,000 Harvard University students voted Thursday night to stay away from classes and boycott normal campus activities for an indefinite period.

At Boston University, about 250 young persons took over the administration building, ripped some telephones off walls and stole some records but left before police arrived.

While Obslin students planned their simulated village burning, college President Robert Fuller led some 50 students, administrators and faculty members to Washington to present 1,300 letters protesting the renewed bombing to Rep. Charles Mosher, R-Ohio.

In Washington, a coalition of antiwar leaders backed by more than 20 members of the Congress announced plans for a nationwide moratorium to protest the war on May 4, the second anniversary of the fatal shooting of four students at Kent State University in Ohio.

At the Pentagon, three Episcopal bishops conducted an hour-long Mass to protest the war. It was the first such protest permitted within the building under a recent court ruling barring the government from interfering with public meetings that oppose its policies.

Thunderstorms Hit Sections of State

Arkansas Weather By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy thunderstorms packing hail and winds in excess of 50 miles per hour caused widespread damage across the state Thursday night and early today, but apparently no one was injured.

The National Weather Service said the violent weather was triggered by a flat low pressure center that extended from central Missouri to the central portion of Texas. The Weather Service said a stationary front extended across the central part of Missouri where it changed to a cold front and extended through eastern Oklahoma and central Texas.

No major damage was reported in the state as a result of the storms.

Minor wind damage was reported in Fayetteville and Newport where trees were uprooted and power lines blown down. Several house trailers also were damaged at Dardanelle.

Police said a barn and several outbuildings were damaged or destroyed in the Little Cedar community in Scott County. Officers said the damage was caused by strong winds and the storm was not believed to be a tornado.

Little Rock had 50 mile per hour winds shortly before 1 a.m. with some hail and heavy rain that produced .67 of an inch in less than 15 minutes.

North Arkansas also had some heavy amounts of rain Thursday with Jonesboro receiving 1.24 inches and Fayetteville and Harrison reporting .72.

The forecast calls for showers and thundershowers today and tonight with a few severe thunderstorms.

High temperatures Thursday showed a wide range with Harrison reaching only 63 while El Dorado had a high of 83.

Overnight lows included 59 at Fayetteville, 58 at Harrison, 59 at Jonesboro, 67 at Pine Bluff, 69 at Texarkana, 65 at El Dorado, 65 at Memphis, 60 at Little Rock and 59 at Fort Smith.

Precipitation reported during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included two inches at Fayetteville, 1.07 at Harrison, a trace at Pine Bluff, .07 at Texarkana, a trace at El Dorado, a trace at Memphis, and 1.27 at Fort Smith.

Antibusing Vote Was Expected

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Florida Gov. Reuben Askew said Thursday night there is a strong tendency to look at the large antibusing vote in his state's primary last month and say nothing has changed in the South.

But he does not take that point of view, he said.

"While 74 per cent of Florida's voters said they were against busing, 79 per cent rejected the idea of segregation in our public schools," Askew said, referring to the two referendums on the primary ballot which amounted to public opinion polls.

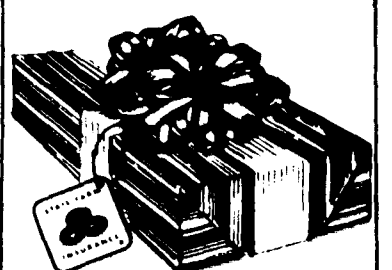

He said the antibusing vote was expected, but added:

"How many of us back in 1954 or even 1964 would have expected the people of a Southern state to voluntarily vote ... against segregation as an acceptable condition of life?"

"Our people said they believe in equal opportunity and they don't want to go back."

Askew said Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace talked mostly about tax reform—not busing—while campaigning in Florida.

"He talked about tax reform, big government, big foundations, foreign aid and the average man, as well as about busing. He asked the people to vote for him as a protest, and this was effective," the Florida governor said.

One Killed in Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — One man was killed and four were wounded in shootings in Belfast during the night, authorities reported.

The killing was the second in 24 hours. During the same period one man was kidnapped and two young girls were assaulted because they planned to marry British soldiers. Police blamed vengeance squads of the Irish Republican Army.

Twenty-six persons have been killed since the British government took over the government of Northern Ireland March 24 in a bid to make peace between the Roman Catholic minority and the Protestant majority. Eighteen of them were slain in the last two weeks.

An 18-year-old youth was dragged from his home in the Protestant Shankill Road area of Belfast, driven off in a car, shot and then dropped out. He staggered into a house and was rushed to a hospital, where he died.

Early today British paratroopers found a man shot in the face and another shot in the shoulder in the Catholic Ardoyne area. Troops also exchanged fire with snipers in the area and reported one gunman and one soldier wounded.

The IRA's Belfast command announced it will continue its campaign of violence because "nothing has changed with the imposition of direct rule."

$30.3-Billion Gain in Gross Nat'l Product

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the frog who thought he looked mighty impressive all bloated with air, Uncle Sam has just announced a $30.3-billion gain in the Gross National Product—half of it inflation.

The absurdity of this measure is underscored by the illusion that the output of goods and services grew at a faster rate than in the previous quarter when in fact the rate declined.

The appearance of great growth results mainly from a spurt in inflation from a 1.7 per cent rate in the final quarter of 1971 to 6.2 per cent in the initial quarter of 1972. Included, therefore, is $15 billion of air.

To include this inflation, this air, as if it were output of goods and services is to invite the ridiculous conclusion that the way to a bigger, more productive America is to raise the price of everything.

No serious attempt is made to pass off the inflated figures as real, of course, but the repeated use of a spurious standard eventually gives it acceptance. And so the impression created is of a near-record boom.

Moreover, the huge size of the distorted figures tends to draw attention from what are perhaps more significant numbers—that 6.2 per cent inflation rate, for example, which is more than triple that of the previous quarter.

Administration officials have suggested that this bulge was to be expected and that it is now working its way through the system and soon will be gone. The rest of the year will

Board Votes to Replace Dean

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Board of Trustees of Arkansas Tech voted Thursday to replace Dr. Kenneth Walker as dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. The vote was 3-1 with Randy Talkington of Russellville casting the dissenting vote.

Following a 3½-hour executive session, no reason was given for relieving Walker, who became dean July 1, 1970, when the school was formed from the Fine Arts and Liberal Arts and Sciences departments during academic reorganization at Tech.

Walker will resume his full-time teaching duties in the college's history department.

The board voted to name Dr. Harlan L. McMillan as acting dean, effective June 30.

Walker and members of the board refused to comment on the change.

John W. Thiele of Fort Smith, a member of the board, asked a delegation of faculty members attending the meeting to refrain from discussing the matter until an executive session reconvened following the board meeting.

be better, they say.

How much better? Harold Passer, assistant secretary of Commerce, is quoted as saying it is difficult to estimate whether or not the rate can be slowed sufficiently to average only 3.25 per cent for the year.

To achieve that goal now assumes either a miracle or a breakdown in the economy, because it would require the rate be cut to 4 per cent in this quarter, half that in the next, and again half that in the final quarter.

Rome Celebrating 2,725th Birthday

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Rome celebrated its 2,725th birthday today without the traditional wolves—animal variety—caged near city hall to recall the Eternal city's mythical beginning.

Some said their absence was due to the city government's staggering debt.

Others were indignant that the city fathers should forget the god who founded Rome.

Legend has it that the abandoned twins Romulus and Remus floated down the Tiber in a reed basket. They were found and suckled by a mother wolf, and Romulus founded Rome in 753 B.C. He killed his twin when Remus poked fun at the new city.

For years the government kept one or two mother wolves and an eagle—symbol of the ancient Romans—in two cages near the Campidoglio, the city hall atop the smallest of Rome's Seven Hills.

The eagle is still there, although there is some dispute whether he is an imperial eagle or the smaller, darker Appennine bird. But for nearly a year the wolf cage has been empty. A city hall spokesman said one wolf died and the other was transferred to the city zoo, apparently for health reasons.

"We've been looking for a replacement but just haven't found a suitable one," the spokesman said.

Female tourists, however, are certain Rome has more than enough wolves for one city.

April 21 is accepted as the date Rome was founded because old calendars fixed it as nine days before the calends, or the first day, of May. Under the old 29-day Roman month, that put it on the 21st of April.

Rescue of Two Costs 7 Lives

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — An allied commando team snatched two U.S. airmen from the middle of a North Vietnamese invasion force, but the operation cost the lives of seven other Americans and used giant B52 bombers as decoys, U.S. sources disclosed today.

Despite a broken arm, a sprained back, lack of food and water and 53 years of age, Lt. Col. Icel E. Hambleton managed for 11 days to evade North Vietnamese troops swarming across the demilitarized zone and sometimes coming within a few feet of him.

Hambleton was a navigator aboard an EB66, a modified bomber being used to jam North Vietnamese radar sites. The plane was hit by a missile April 2 just above the DMZ and Hambleton bailed out, landing just on the Saigon Vietnamese side of the border. The other five men aboard the plane are listed as missing.

The other man rescued, Lt. Mark N. Clark of Los Angeles, was shot down April 3 in an OV10 spotter plane while participating in the search for Hambleton. Clark's copilot is missing and presumed dead.

A Super Jolly Green Giant helicopter was shot down April 6 during the search for the missing men, and all six of its crewmen were killed. Clark was rescued April 11 and Hambleton two days later, but meanwhile two other planes not connected with the search were shot down in the same area and their four crewmen were missing. The U.S. Command would not allow disclosure of the rescue of Hambleton and Clark until today, after the search for those four men was abandoned.

Both Clark and Hambleton were snatched from behind enemy lines in the Dong Ha area just below the DMZ by a volunteer team of South Vietnamese commandos led by U.S. Navy Lt. Tom Norris.

Informed sources said the team used secret techniques which they were not at liberty to disclose. But they reported that Hambleton was taken out by sampan and floated downriver until the South Vietnamese lines were reached.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Television's big drama Thursday was the Apollo 16 mission whose engine trouble built to a climax over six hours of mounting tension and then moved swiftly to a happy ending.

NBC, which had decided to start a television account of the descent of the moonlander a half hour earlier than its two rival networks was able to handle the first news of the mechanical crisis when it came shortly after 3 p.m. EST. CBS and ABC were occupied with soap operas.

After that, there were reports as decisions were made, but viewers were never rewarded with live television from the moon, which was postponed to today. Although it was basically a story that could be followed on radio, the television programs, had models, films of simulated flight and experts on hand to demonstrate the complicated problems the astronauts were encountering.

The exuberance of the two astronauts when Orion finally touched down safely on the moon was matched by the release of tension, noticeable in the faces and voices of those reporting the adventure.

At one point when radio communications were coming in clearly, from the moon, Frank Reynolds and Jules Bergman of ABC were rueful and embarrassed—they could not seem to communicate with each other across one studio.

CBS was able to go ahead with its profile of Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley, a frank and surprisingly sympathetic "CBS Report" about the controversial man who has been mayor of the Illinois city for 17 years. It was also an illuminating report on the operation of a big city political machine, one of the few that still functions effectively. Like the portrait of the mayor, the description of the machine focused on its blemishes as well as its beauty spots.

Daley, at 69, is bluff, blue-eyed, pink-cheeked and speaks firmly about his own ideas of morality.

Narrator Charles Kuralt reported that after disturbances four years ago, Daley rode in a helicopter above the 28 blocks destroyed by fire on the city's West Side and broke into tears.

The public saw him on network television ordering police to shoot to kill arsonists and to "shoot to maim or cripple anyone looting any stores in our city." Both portraits apparently were typical.

It was a valuable hour, providing dimension to both the mayor and the city that are little known or appreciated in other sections of the country.

New Marriages Styles?

DEAR HELEN: Looking at divorce statistics, we can see that marriage, American style, is a smashing failure. In our area, the divorce listings outnumber applications for marriage licenses every week.

So why keep on with the same tried old formula which, if it doesn't end in a bust-up, mires down in boredom?

There's a lot in favor of "non-marriages," for when either party is free to leave (without the hassle of divorce) it makes both work harder at pleasing each other. But what of the children? A non-marriage or trial license perhaps, at first—and then if things work out, the couple can chance real legal commitment and a family?

I cotton more to the "week-end" marriage, where husband and wife live and work in different areas, then get together for their free time. It's like anticipating special dates you're always at your best for your mate—and best of all, the woman isn't turned into a house-slave.

Female executives are more prevalent nowadays—when their husbands are transferred, they can't leave their very rewarding jobs to tag along. Why should they? Who says a man and woman should live together seven days a week just because they're married?

Even the children of such a union might do better without conflicting rules from mother and father. A little separation might produce a lot more love.

Why don't you ask your readers, Helen, to offer their formulas for successful marriage, modern style—AFRAID TO CHANCE IT?

DEAR AFRAID: Will do.

Dear Readers: Outside of the good old traditional standbys of love, compatibility, consideration, dependability—and choosing the right mate in the first place—please send us your special formulas for making marriage work. —H.

P.S. Here's a starter: "Don't work HARD at your marriage. MINI TRAVEL WARDROBE!"

Designer Giorgio Di Santangelo has a new travel/resort weekend wardrobe that fits in a tiny envelope. It includes a two-piece swimsuit, tights, a tunic and wrap skirt. The price is high, but by the time summer rolls around, moderately priced versions of the travel wardrobe envelope should be available—everything wrinkle-proof, of course.

NHL Stars to Meet Best From Russia in 8 Games

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Plans were announced this week for a team of NHL players to meet the best players from the Soviet Union in eight games during September. Some National Hockey League players may find themselves trying to catch their breaths when they meet the best Russian hockey players, Montreal, Vancouver, Winnipeg asserts the 1972 U.S. Olympic hockey coach.

"It's a known fact that the Russians have one of the best conditioning programs in the world," Murray Williamson said Thursday. "The Canadians should be playing them right now when they're at the peak of their game."

"The emotions, I'm sure, will be high on both sides. But a big factor will be conditioning. And the Canadians are playing right into the Russians' hands."

Dickinson, Green Share Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Hubert Green walked up to the ninth green at the long, tough La Costa Country Club golf course clapping his hands about a short iron shot that left him a four-foot putt for a birdie.

"Well, I was pretty proud of the shot and I thought it deserved to be applauded," he said with an Alabama drawl.

Green combined enough of those good shots with his strange putting style Thursday to share the first-round lead with Gardner Dickinson in the $165,000 Tournament of Champions.

Dickinson, 44, and Green, 25, fired four-under-par 68s for a two-stroke advantage over defending champion Jack Nicklaus, Bruce Crampton and Jerry Heard.

Nicklaus hit all 18 greens but needed 35 putts to stay among the leaders in this elite field of 26 players who have scored regular tour victories in the last 12 months.

Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino had their troubles with the deep, clinging rough that makes this one of the most demanding courses on the pro tour.

Trevino never really got it going. He finished with a string of four consecutive fives on his card for 75. Palmer, who shot a 74, had the makings of a decent round until he bogeyed the 17th from the rough, the took a double bogey six on the 18th when he almost lost his tee shot in the foot-high grass.

Someone asked Green, a tour sophomore who hasn't played well since winning the Houston Champions International last year, if he were talking to himself on the course.

"I'll talk to anybody, he quipped. "The only thing is, when I'm playing there's nobody out there to watch me and nobody to talk to."

Green uses an unorthodox putting style, crouching far over, his feet well spread and his hands about four inches apart on the club.

But he needed only 27 putts.

Has Nose for It

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Tkaczuk's nose travels an interesting route on his face, going from here to there and back to here again. It is the nose of a hockey player and right now, one of the New York Rangers' very best hockey players.

It was Tkaczuk who set up Bruce MacGregor's short-handed goal Thursday night in New York's 3-2 victory over Chicago—a triumph that gave the Rangers a commanding 3-0 edge in their best-of-seven National Hockey League Stanley Cup semifinals against the Black Hawks.

Boston also grabbed another victory in its quest of the finals as it dumped St. Louis 10-2 for a 2-0 lead in their semifinal playoff series.

Tkaczuk was all over the ice, killing penalties, forechecking furiously and was clearly the dominant force behind the Rangers' victory. "He smells the money," suggested Vic Hadfield, captain of the Rangers. "With this nose," replied Tkaczuk, "I ought to be able to smell something, eh."

Tkaczuk was out killing a second period penalty to Glen Sather when he smelled out the puck. And that was the turning point for the Rangers. Chicago goalie Gary Smith had gone after the loose puck and suddenly, Tkaczuk was bearing down on him.

"I was moving back and forth, trying to mix him up," said the Ranger center. He must have succeeded in confusing somebody.

Smith threw the puck to his right, away from Tkaczuk and towards Pat Stapleton and Pit Martin. They weren't exactly ready for the rubber, but Tkaczuk was.

"It slipped off a stick—I think Stapleton's," said Tkaczuk, "and it came right to me."

Smith had been slow getting back to the net and when Tkaczuk threw the rubber to MacGregor, the right wing had nothing but net to shoot at. He didn't miss.

That gave the Rangers a 2-1 lead and left Chicago Coach Billy Reay fuming.

"The key was that they scored a shorthanded goal," said Reay, "and that's just terrible. They shouldn't do that to us."

Dennis Hull's second score of the night following MacGregor's short-handed goal had tied it again before Dale Rolfe gave the Rangers the lead for keeps.

Boston got a three-goal performance from 36-year-old Johnny Bucyk. It was his second hat trick in playoff action. The Bruins also used two scores from Eddie Westfall and one apiece from Phil Esposito, Ace Bailey, John McKenzie, Mike Walton and Don Marcotte in giving the Blues their second serious defeat. Boston led at St. Louis 6-1 in the first game of the series.

TCU Lands Top Player

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian landed prize schoolboy football recruit Ronnie Littleton of Wichita Falls Thursday, beating back strong challenges from Oklahoma and Colorado.

Littleton, a schoolboy All-American and Twice an All-State selection had scholarship offers from more than 200 colleges.

The rugged 6-foot-1, 184-pound running back rushed for over 3,000 yards in his schoolboy career.

As a senior, who rushed for 1,807 yards on 362 carries and scored 26 touchdowns. He also played in the defensive secondary.

It marked the second consecutive year that TCU signed the prize blue chip recruit in the state. Last year TCU signed Mike Luttrell of Fort Worth Western Hills, who later made the All-Southwest Conference freshman team.

Knicks Must Go Slow

NEW YORK (AP) — New York struck out on Boston's fast ball, and if the Knicks want to stay in the game they're going to have to go slow.

Player-philosopher Bill Bradley was analyzing the sticky status of the National Basketball Association semifinal series which the Celtics could tie tonight if the Knicks fall into their trap again.

The Knicks, who took command of the best-of-seven series 2-0 by setting their own pace, lost game No. 3 because they ran to the Celtics' rhythm.

"They were able to up the tempo of the game," said Bradley. "We were able to keep up with them in the third quarter, but then they started hitting and we started missing."

"That's what happens in a fast game."

The defending champion Milwaukee Bucks will attempt to stay in the semifinals Saturday with a home court victory over Los Angeles, which leads that best-of-7 series 3-2.

In the American Basketball Association West Finals, the Utah Stars take a 2-1 lead to Bloomington, Ind., against the Pacers Saturday night. The Pacers were bounced from their home in the State Fairgrounds Coliseum at Indianapolis by a circus.

In the ABA East, the Virginia Squires, with a 2-0 edge over the New York Nets, twiddle their thumbs awaiting a Monday meeting in Uniondale, N.Y., after a nine-day delay because of an ice show at the Nets' new Nassau Coliseum home.

The Pittsburgh Pirates needed a hand in the ninth inning and settled for Dave Giusti's palm.

"I went to the palm ball and it worked," Pittsburgh's top reliever said after bailing the Pirates out of a late jam to preserve a 7-5 victory over the Chicago

Cubs Thursday night. Giusti reached back for his Sunday pitch after the Cubs had scored two runs with none out and had a man on second.

He coaxed Art Shamsky to foul out, then got Rick Monday and Bill North on strikeouts.

"I figured they had never seen the palm ball," said Giusti, referring to National League newcomers Monday and North. "I used them on Monday to set him up and struck him out on a fastball. Then I used the palm ball all the way with North."

The hot Los Angeles Dodgers walloped the Atlanta Braves 11-1 and the San Francisco Giants beat the San Diego Padres 2-1 in the National League's other games Thursday.

The Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers 1-0 in the American League's only game. Rain washed out the game between Milwaukee and New York.

Pittsburgh took a comfortable 7-3 lead into the ninth inning on the combined pitching efforts of

Thinks U.S. Can Bridge Gap in Ping Pong in Five Years

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The sponge paddle, superb condition and dedication make the Chinese the best table tennis players in the world, but Uncle Sam can bridge the gap in five years, a three-time American champion predicted today.

"I think this visit by the Chinese to this country after our visit to Mainland China will set off a new wave of table tennis enthusiasm in this country," said Bernard Bukiet, 52, of New York, one of the United States' top players for the last two decades.

"You must remember there are more than 3 million registered players in Communist China and we have a couple of thousand but only about 25 world class competitors."

"In China, all the kids dream of becoming table tennis champions. As soon as they get in school, they are handed rackets and are exposed to the very best coaching."

"I would say that China could field four or five teams as good as that now touring the United States."

The Chinese defeated a U.S. team before a crowd of 8,500 at Nassau County's new Coliseum Thursday afternoon, the fifth one-sided victory since the tour started in Detroit a week ago.

The United States' only victory was scored by 30-year-old Errol Resek of Jamaica, N.Y., who beat Ch'en Pao-Ching in an exciting, slam bang match 22-20, 16-21, 21-14.

It was the fourth win for an American in 27 matches. Other victories had been scored by Dal-joon Lee, Korean-born U.S. champion; Dell Sweers of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Wendy Hicks of Santa Barbara, Calif., 19-year-old U.S. women's champion.

Bukiet, who came to the United States from Poland 30 years ago, said Chinese ping pongers train for the sport as rigorously as a boxer preparing for a championship fight.

"They strengthen their legs and arms with calisthenics, do road work and practice hours at a time," the veteran said.

"Until recently table tennis have been little more than a parlor game in the United States."

"But, after watching the Chinese, I think we will see an explosion of new converts who are willing to dedicate themselves to the game. We could be level with the Chinese in five years."

Bukiet said table tennis was dominated by Europeans, the British particularly, until the sponge paddle replaced the pimpled rubber bat in 1954.

"It became a new game," he added. "The Orientals—Chinese, Japanese and Koreans—became very adept with the sponge paddle. We play more defensively, have longer rallies. They were more aggressive, stay close to the table and try to put the ball away on every shot."

single runs in the fourth, fifth, and seventh innings to sew up the victory in the second meeting between the two teams.

Hope scored five runs on six hits with Lynn Norton absorbing the loss, while Texarkana scored nine runs on eight hits with Freeman picking up the win.

Hope enters the Southern State Tournament next week, meeting Harmony Grove at 3:00 p.m. on Monday and then going over to Fairview that night for a regularly scheduled game.

Missouri Coach Dies

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Wilbur "Sparky" Stalcup, 62, athletic director at the University of Missouri and coach of basketball from 1946-61, died early today in Boone County Hospital.

Stalcup had been hospitalized since April 9 when he suffered an apparent heart attack.

A three-sport star at Northwest Missouri State College, Stalcup was named to a number of all-star basketball teams while playing under Coach Henry Iba at Maryville.

Meanwhile, the Hogs scored pitched the first five innings for the Giants and won the second National League victory with relief help from Jim Barr and Jerry Johnson.

Loser Steve Arlin had a no-hitter going until Chris Speier opened the fifth inning with an infield hit to trigger the Giants' two-run rally.

Paul Blair's fourth-inning homer, one of only two Baltimore hits, provided the winning margin as Pat Dobson hurled the Orioles past Detroit.

Junior Track Meet Here

The Hope Parks & Recreation Department will hold a Junior Olympic track meet for both girls and boys in the 3rd and 4th grades (bantam division) and 5th and 6th grades (midget division), Saturday April 22 at the Hope High School track field, beginning at 10:00 a.m. Over 150 medals will be awarded the top three places in each of the 13 events in each division.

MICKEY RIVERS of the California Angels, above, tried his best in a pre-game exhibition last year but he couldn't beat the all-time base-circling record set by Evar Swanson. Swanson, who set the record as a Cincinnati Red in 1929, later went on to play with the Chicago White Sox, where he twice earned the trophy as the fastest player in baseball awarded by comedian Joe E. Brown. He receives the 1934 trophy from Brown at right.

Famous Cage Player Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edwin "Scotty" McDonald, former basketball player and coach for Loyola University here and scout for the Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association, is dead of an apparent heart attack.

McDonald, 55, collapsed and died Thursday after taking a steam bath at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

A prominent local attorney, McDonald had to hold night practice sessions when he coached the Loyola team from 1947 to 1952. After resigning to make way for a fulltime coach, he coached an AAU team, was an advisor to Bill Sharman with the Los Angeles Jets of the American Basketball League and also was an aide and scout with the St. Louis Hawks and Suns of the NBA.

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bipartisan boost has lifted President Nixon's space-shuttle plan to its first victory in Congress.

After killing a move to delay development of a reusable shuttle for roundtrip manned space flights, the House voted 277 to 60 Thursday to authorize a $3.43-billion space-agency budget.

The bill was sent to the Senate, where it faces similar opposition.

Denouncing efforts to hike space spending "at a time of growing financial crisis," Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, said: "It's nice to send men to the moon, but this is not going to buy bacon and beans in this country. I went through one depression ... and I don't want to go through another."

But Majority Leader Hale Boggs, D-La., and Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., applauded the space program's achievements and said provisions for moving forward with shuttle development during the fiscal year starting July 1 envision economic operations in the future.

In an effort to strike $200 million contained in the budget for space-shuttle development, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., questioned the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's cost estimate. NASA figures developing a shuttle will cost $5.15 billion over six years. Aspin termed that "squishy soft" and said it could run to $35 billion.

Rep. Louis Frey Jr., R-Fla., a leader of the pro-shuttle forces, claimed Aspin's amendment to defer development for a one-year study by the National Academy of Sciences would kill the shuttle, wrecking the space program in the process.

"If you want a space program," said Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., "the shuttle is the tempt.

In his opening statement prosecutor Albert Harris Jr. said the 18-page document may be "embarrassing" but clearly spells out the relationship between Jackson and Miss Davis.

It is dated July 8, 1971, the same day the prosecution claims Miss Davis and Jackson had their first face-to-face meeting, in a holding cell at the Marin County jail, and engaged in "a close, passionate and physical involvement."

Spiro P. Vasos, a fingerprint expert with the state Department of Justice, said the 18-page diary contained one of Miss Davis' fingerprints, 52 of Jackson's and three from San Quentin inmate John L. Spain.

Spain is one of six prisoners charged with murder and conspiracy in the deaths of three guards and two honor inmates during the violence in which Jackson was killed.

None of the love letters has been heard by the all white jury trying Miss Davis. When the trial resumes Monday, the prosecution is expected to offer more testimony on the letters.

The diary was found in Jackson's effects after he was killed Aug. 21, 1971, at San Quentin Prison during what prison officials said was an escape attempt.

program we should buy. If we cut out the shuttle, we don't have a space program."

Aspin's proposal then died, 103 to 11.

The budget also contains $27.9 million for building shuttle facilities at Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

By voice vote, the House rejected a liberal-backed move by blacks to delete $2.5 million in funds for continued operation of the NASA tracking station at Johannesburg, South Africa.

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., a member of the Black Caucus, said Congress "should end funding for this South African operation where apartheid and racial discrimination are established policies."

Religion Changes Form and Content

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The religious landscape, its contours once clearly defined and measurable, has taken on a diffuse, kaleidoscopic pattern, ever-changing both in form and content.

This is the observation of many religious leaders, who note that growth of institutional church life has slowed to a virtual halt, while outside religious activity has vigorously proliferated and diversified.

In its public impact, religion even seems to be "moving out of the interdenomination sphere and into the nondenominational sphere," says the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall, president of the Lutheran Church in America.

Only in the recent past did the separate denominations achieve broader weight and influence through forming interdenominational councils, he said, but this now appears to be waning in the shift towards vaster nondenominationalism.

It also "seems evident that television and radio religion is the separate denominations achieve broader weight and influence through forming interdenominational councils, he said, but this now appears to be waning in the shift towards vaster nondenominationalism.

in the ascendance in contrast to religion that is experienced in a congregation," he adds.

Scores of religious broadcasts pour out on Sundays, offering a substitute for stay-at-home. "Armchair religion," he calls it.

Evangelist Billy Graham has become a symbol of this popular type of nondenominational ministry, on the air, at meetings and in White House "nondenominational" services.

The intermingling, fluid movement of faith these days also shows up in more inclusive ways—the weakening of national lines of denominational authority, the new emphasis on localism, the blurring of distinctions between clerical and lay functions, the growing theological divergency in interpreting doctrine.

The trend is evident in the surge of mixed Protestant-Catholic religious activity outside official church purview.

In the educational sphere, too, many once strictly denominational seminaries and schools have joined interfaith "clusters" and developed mixed facilities. Book publishers debate whether there is such a thing any more as a "denomination" trade, Protestant or Catholic.

The Rev. Gregory Baum, a Toronto, Canada, priest-professor, says the church has shifted from "being a society with definite boundary lines, with a government and jurisdiction of the people, and is coming to be a movement."

the lions' den

Remember how the deliverance of Daniel from the lion's den converted King Darius? Or the great impact that the saving of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego from the fiery furnace had on King Nebuchadnezzar? Most who read these stories get the idea in order to demonstrate their faith, they must do something equally daring. But they're missing the whole point. The greatness of these four children of Judah lay not in the way they behaved on those two well known occasions. Rather it lay in their daily adherence to their beliefs, consistently following their God in everything as we should do.

We must quit waiting for new furnaces to conquer, and start overcoming our own daily lion's dens. One act of faith doesn't make a faithful man. It's the way that we conduct ourselves before and after the act that counts. Christ said, if you are faithful in doing the small things, you will be faithful in doing the big. One step at a time. One day at a time is the only way.

Army on Land Saved Apollo

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — An anonymous army scattered from coast to coast and held in reserve for just such emergencies sprang to action Thursday to save the $475-million Apollo 16 moon landing.

In Houston and Cambridge, Mass., in Tallahassee, Tenn., and Downey, Calif., a company of 200 rushed to computers, spacecraft simulators, rocket engine mockups and voluminous files of data from countless past studies of Apollo systems.

Apollo 16 was in trouble. Man's fifth manned lunar landing hung in the balance.

Shortly before John W. Young and Charles M. Duke were to fire their lunar lander Orion's engine to begin the descent to the moon's Descartes highlands, a problem with the control system of the big engine on Thomas K. Mattingly's command ship Casper developed. The two spacecraft already had separated.

The needles in meters monitoring the circuits in a backup system that swivels the engine nozzle to steer the spacecraft were flicking to and fro.

The primary control system was functioning, but mission rules forbid Mattingly to fire Casper's engine to return to an orbit 60 miles above the moon without the backup system.

Space agency officials considered ordering Orion and Casper to rejoin and use Orion's engine to blast them homeward.

But Apollo's anonymous army marched to work.

At North American Rockwell in Downey, Calif., where Casper was built, engineers manned sophisticated simulators that mimic every detail of the spacecraft's behavior.

They traced the malfunction to probably a transistor or other electronic component.

Next, the engineers had to know if rapid swiveling of the engine nozzle that might result if the bad circuit were used would structurally damage the engine or the spacecraft.

Engineers at the Arnold Research and Engineering Center in Tullahoma, Tenn., had conducted tests nearly three years ago on just such a problem. The reports were reviewed and it was decided there would be no structural damage.

Finally, the experts had to know about how the complex guidance and navigation computer aboard Casper which ties everything together would react to it all.

Tests at MIT determined there would be no malfunction.

Running on Past Record

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan said Thursday that if he is re-elected he would continue to operate as he has in the past and work to get federal money for Arkansas.

McClellan, who is being opposed for re-election this year by three candidates in the Democratic primary, said he was the ranking member of the "powerful" Senate Appropriations Committee.

"You may wonder why you get some of these projects — it doesn't happen accidentally, it takes a lot of hard work," McClellan said.

While he said it was true that Arkansas has ranked 49th in the nation in several areas, he said that with all the federal money coming into Arkansas it will not remain in last position indefinitely.

"We have been at the bottom of the ladder, but we are climbing up now," McClellan said.

He also said he was running for re-election on his record, not on promises. "I am talking about a campaign on records," he said. "I hope it is a record of achievement."

Blacks Convicted at Arkadelphia

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Two black students at Henderson State College here were convicted by an all-white Circuit Court jury Thursday on charges of inciting to riot.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated about two hours before convicting I. V. Chapman, 38, and Alvin H. Pearson, 22. Chapman was given a three-year prison term and fined $500, and Pearson was fined $500.

They were charged in connection with a disturbance March 16 at the Clark County Jail here. A group of about 200 blacks had gathered at the jail to protest the arrest of several black Arkadelphia High School pupils in connection with a disturbance earlier in the day at the school.

The demonstration ended when the crowd allegedly threw stones at State Troopers on duty outside the jail.

Pearson took the stand and denied that he had participated in the rock-throwing. The Rev. John Miles, president of the Arkansas Ministerial Alliance, testified Thursday that he did not hear Chapman urge the crowd to riot. Miles said he was at the jail serving coffee to officers and others when the incident occurred.

Earlier testimony said Chapman had led the crowd in a chant of "Whup, Whup, Whup 'em Upside The Head."

Kennedy Says South Ahead of North on Race Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said here Thursday night that many areas of the South had moved past the North on the "passionate issue of race."

"It is as though by some new and cruel arithmetic prejudice is declining in the South while resentment rises in the North," Kennedy said.

Kennedy made the remarks at the 9th annual Arkansas Brotherhood Dinner of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which presented its National Brotherhood and Humanitarian Award to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., a presidential candidate.

Kennedy spoke of a "quiet, forward revolution" that was occurring in the South.

The senator said that if Americans were honest with themselves "we must be filled with pessimism over certain directions the North may take, and we must look south to see the really hopeful steps."

The real tragedy of the 1970s would be for the North to repeat the racial agony of the South in the 1950s and 1960s, and it would be a double tragedy because it would all be so unnecessary, Kennedy said.

Kennedy said it would take a "peculiar blindness" for the North to "stumble into the sort of obsession with race that the South seems now to be leaving behind, thanks to the vision of our wisest leaders."

The senator offered praise for Mills, saying he was one of Arkansas' greatest giants, a man whose reputation "surpasses that of any other senator or congressman."

Kennedy said it was not accident that governors' offices of the South were filling with new and moderate young leaders such as Arkansas' Dale Bumpers. "In countless ways, it is fair to say that the South of 1972 is the South of Dale Bumpers, not the South of George Wallace," he said.

"You see the (Nixon) administration's Southern Strategy for what it really is — Reconstruction warmed over, a cynical device to keep the people down, to preserve the lion's share of American wealth for the few who are rich and powerful, most of whom do not even live in the Southern states," Kennedy said.

"For their own narrow political or financial advantage, there are men in high places in Washington today who would like to see the South preoccupied with race and busing to the point where you are unable and unwilling to claim your rights in all the matters that really matter deeply, beginning with things like homes and wealth and schools and jobs," Kennedy said.

If praising Mills, Kennedy said the congressman's reputation was built on his competence as chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, and "unmatched knowledge of the laws for which he is responsible."

Kennedy again plugged for the national health insurance legislation that is now pending before Mills' committee. The senator said there were areas of the program in which he and Mills do not agree completely, but he said the common ground they share is far more important than their differences.

"We have not yet finished testing each other's views," Kennedy said, "but as the debate on health care moves ahead, I have been increasingly impressed by how close we really are."

He said health care must be made a matter of right for all and not just a privilege for a few.

He said the nation needed a health insurance system that not only paid the bill, but also called the tune by guaranteeing every family health care it deserved and needed.

But he said Congress should not pass a program that would force either the doctors or their patients into arrangements they do not want.

"The government has a role to play, but only the doctors and hospitals and their patients can create a health care system truly worthy of our nation," Kennedy said.

Spoiled Orange Juice Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recall of spoiled orange juice processed by Texun Corp. of Weslaco, Tex., was ordered Thursday by the Food and Drug Administration.

The FDA said consumer complaints about a brown color and swollen cans led to the recall of more than 5,500 cases of Texun unsweetened orange juice manufactured last Nov. 30 and Dec. 9.

The orange juice was distributed in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Louisiana and California, the FDA said.

Contract Awarded at Pine Bluff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has awarded a $1,002,500 contract to the Pine Bluff Arsenal for the manufacture of 254,000 smoke hand grenades, the office of Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Thursday.

Stolen House Brings Laugh

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — What once was a tiny pink cinderblock house sitting at 1516 Levy St. in a quiet, modest neighborhood here is no more. Somebody stole it.

"Everyone I tell starts laughing like hell," says Dr. Frank Banghart, who owned it.

"No telling where to look," adds Chief Deputy Ken Garrett. "Your guess is as good as mine."

The best clues to the theft have come from a property owner next door.

"They did a good job," said Maresa Carpenter, discussing the two men and a teen-aged boy who carried the house away piece by piece. "They took everything that was usable and loaded it on the truck."

Mrs. Carpenter said the three drove up to the home site a couple of weekends in a row. They would spend Saturdays and Sunday afternoons sawing and slamming away with sledge hammers and then disappear.

She said she assumed the men were the owners clearing the property for other use.

Banghart, a professor of education administration at Florida State University, said he bought the 25-by-40 foot dwelling a month ago for $11,000 with intentions of using it as rental property.
